On 21 February, employees heard the first in a series of financial seminars. While the speaker's presentation, "Your Check Book and Personal Budget," was intended to be a narrow focus, during the question and answer period his subject matter was expanded. Based upon the enthusiasm of the audience and subsequent comments we have received, there is definitely an interest in continuing the financial seminars. We will continue to provide employees with information on the nature of the specific presentation and the audience we believe will benefit most from the presentation. Our next seminar is to be held on Tuesday, 25 March. The subject will be "Life Cycle Investing," presented by Mr. Wayne Nelson, Vice-President Merrill Lynch.	25X^
The Agency is seeking a delegation of authority from OPM in order to fulfill one of the requirements of the Defense Authorization Act of 1986. Under this Act, male employees ages 18-26 hired after 8 November 1985 must certify that they have met the registration requirements of the Selective Service Act. Willful failure to comply may be grounds either for not hiring an individual or for terminating an employee. Congress designated OPM as the adjudicating authority in determining compliance. Since many applicants and affected employees are covert, a delegation of authority to CIA is necessary.

12. The Congress has passed and sent to the President a bill which would entitle retirees to receive health insurance rebates under the Federal Employee Health Benefits Program. This bill is a revision of the earlier one which was vetoed by the President because it would have increased the Government's share of health insurance premiums. The new bill does not have this same provision and it is anticipated that the president will sign the bill momentarily. He has until 4 March 1986 to sign.

18. The Interagency Language Roundtable Testing Committee met on 24 February to discuss the results of the recent Interagency Testing Comparability Study and to plan follow-up action. The Committee tasked the three participating agencies, Defense Language Institute, CIA, and Foreign Service Institute (FSI), with crossrating and analyzing discrepant test results in French, German, Russian, and Spanish to determine the causes. Each of the three agencies will also conduct interrater reliability studies in various languages in the future. CIA and FSI representatives agreed to collaborate in refining testing procedures at levels below three and in developing technique and content areas for job-related proficiency tests.

completed last week. The double running of the five-week New Analyst Course completed last week. The double running was necessary to accommodate the increased number of analysts hired by the DI. There were students in attendance. Based on the good results, OTE will do this again, should the need arise. About half of the class sessions were conducted jointly to use guest speakers more efficiently. Nearly half of the students were from the Office of Scientific and Weapons Research, by far the largest contingent from that Office ever to attend this course.	e e
